1 About Galiwin’ku

Galiwin’ku is the largest community on Elcho Island, which is 150km north-west of Nhulunbuy and 550km north-east of Darwin. Elcho Island is at the southern end of the Wessel Island group, and is bounded on the western side by the Arafura Sea and on the eastern side by Cadell Strait.

Galiwin’ku is the only town on Elcho Island and is also the Aboriginal name for the whole island.

Aboriginal people have inhabited this region for more than 40,000 years. After the Goulburn Island mission was set up in 1921, Elcho Island was chosen as the site for a second Methodist overseas mission.

Galiwin’ku on Elcho Island was eventually established in 1942 as a refuge from possible bombing of the Milingimbi Royal Australian Air Force Base during World War II.

The Methodist church started its Methodist overseas mission in Galiwin’ku in 1947. During the 1950s a fishing industry started, a large market garden flourished and a cypress pine logging industry and sawmill began. During early settlement, the mission encouraged Aboriginal people to stay on their traditional homelands and use Galiwin’ku as a service centre. However, the mission ended when self-government came in the 1970s, and the community is now the largest Aboriginal community in north-east Arnhem Land.

1.1 Population

The population of Galiwin’ku and its surrounds in 2016 was approximately 2,206, of which 2,067 were Indigenous (94%). In 2016, 42 per cent of Galiwin’ku’s population was younger than 20 years of age.

1.2 Power and water

Electricity is supplied by diesel generators. Chlorinated water is supplied to the town via 7 bores, which are situated approximately 1.3km from the town boundary. Two sewage ponds where wastewater is treated are situated approximately 2.3km from the town boundary.

1.3 ICT information

- Full telephone and internet services
- 4GX available on compatible devices, typical download speed 2 to 75 Mbps
- Some parts 3G devices only
- Television coverage is digital.

1.4 Access

1.4.1 Air

The town is serviced by a tarmac airstrip.

1.4.2 Road

No Access by road

1.5 Local government

The East Arnhem Regional Council provides local government in Galiwin’ku which is in the Council’s Gumurr Marthakal Ward. The Gumurr Marthakal Ward is one of six wards in the Council and elects three of the 14 council members, The Council’s headquarters are in Nhulunbuy and it has a service delivery centre in Galiwin’ku.

The council consults community members through the Galiwin’ku Local Authority which meets monthly with the Gumurr Marthakal Ward Councillors.
